Subject: Professional development request: Talk Python Everything Bundle

Hi [Manager's Name],

I would like to invest part of my annual learning budget in the full Talk Python course library, which covers the Python skills our team relies on across web, data, testing, tooling and AI:

- Product: The Everything Bundle, full contents at <https://training.talkpython.fm/courses/all>
- Provider: Talk Python Training, founded by Michael Kennedy, Python Software Foundation Fellow
- Format: Self-paced streaming video, 54 courses and roughly 287 hours, with downloadable exercises
- Cost: USD 299 one-time, against USD 1,584 if the courses were bought individually
- Purchase options:
 - Company PO or credit card via the bundle page
 - Company PO or credit card with volume discounts via team licensing, <https://training.talkpython.fm/business>
 - I purchase it and submit the invoice for reimbursement

Why this is a good investment

- Direct relevance: Covers [skill A] and [skill B] today, and the rest of the library is there when our roadmap moves to [project or team goal] without another purchase request.
- Cost efficiency: USD 299 for the whole library is less than one seat at a single multi-day workshop, and roughly the price of eight individual courses out of 54.
- Minimal disruption: On-demand videos let me study during personal development hours or off-peak times.
- Measurable progress: Talk Python can enable a private dashboard so you or L&D can track my progress and course completion.
- Long-term value: Lifetime access and offline mobile apps give us an enduring reference, unlike a one-off conference.
- Documentation compliance: A PDF invoice with tax details and a certificate of completion for each course are available for HR records.

This is not a subscription

Worth stating plainly, since the bundle page also lists renewal pricing. The USD 299 is a one-time purchase and every course in the bundle is ours permanently, with no recurring charge and nothing to cancel.

Renewals are entirely optional. They exist only to add courses published after our purchase, at a discount to the original price, and skipping them costs us nothing we already own.

Next steps

Please let me know which purchasing path Finance prefers, or if there are forms I should complete. I am happy to draft the PO request or handle vendor onboarding. The team at Talk Python is willing to register as a vendor with us if that is a requirement.

Thank you for supporting my professional growth. I am confident the skills gained will help us deliver [specific deliverable] more quickly and with higher quality.

Best regards,
